May 2012

What a wonderful year it has been so far. Club visits have now concluded. What a great bunch of Lions, partners and friends we have. Thank you from Sheryl and myself for the enthusiastic welcome that has been shown to us as we 'did the rounds' of the 67 clubs in this District 201V3. There are still things to be done but having all club visits completed is a relief and a very fulfilling experience.

During the next few months, as our year comes to an end, International President Wing-Tun Tam has asked that we "resolve to care for our fellow Lions like family members. At club meetings ask them how they are and their families are. Visit or call when they are sick. Look for job leads if they are unemployed. The strength of our association is a result of the warm relationship among Lions. The more we care for one another the more we will retain our members and serve together effectively. If Lions can help others we definitely can help Lions too. That's what being a family is all about". I endorse President Tam's remarks and ask that you look inward at your club and ensure that you are looking after your fellow Lions.

A new 'recruitment brochure' entitled "Want to make a difference" has now been published by Australian Lions. The brochure answers those key initial questions posed by potential members and contains contacts and links to more detailed information online. This will be an essential tool for your club in it's efforts to reach out for suitable new members. Twenty copies of this brochure will be cost free to each club, until initial stock is exhausted. After that they will be on sale at a cost of $15 per hundred. Check out the club supplies shop on the Lions Australia web site to place your club's order.

Recently clubs will have received a request from our Multiple District Office requesting details of cakes, puddings, mints and fudge purchased. Please don't throw this aside and say "they should know how many we purchased" as I have heard some clubs have done. This is an audit procedure to ascertain that Lions are not being defrauded in any rebates that the suppliers are required to pay on sales figures.

Many clubs have received emails from me with details of a prospective member who has made enquiries on the internet. Most clubs have contacted these persons and have gained a new member. A few clubs have not taken any action. Because of this a set of guidelines has been produced to help clubs make the most of these "gift" members. A copy of these guidelines has been forwarded to your club in this months mail-out along with a letter co-signed by myself and Jon Dee regarding the project 'DO SOMETHING' which is also aimed at gaining new members. Please assist with this new method of advertising because doing something is better than I often hear from some clubs - we don't know how to get new members.

If you have not attended one of the two Lions Information Days at Bairnsdale or Trafalgar it is not too late. Don't miss out - book in now for the day being held at Cranbourne on Sunday the 20th May. This day is not only for club officers but will provide essential information to all Lions attending.

The fourteen punctuation marks are - period, comma, colon, semicolon, dash, hyphen, apostrophe, question mark, exclamation point, quotation mark, brackets, parenthesis, braces and ellipses. The question for this month is - what famous North American landmark is constantly moving backward?

FROM THE CABINET SECRETARY'S DESK

What a busy April I have had. Life would have been much simpler if Clubs had sent their PU101's and Returns 5 & 6 in on time.

I know that we are all busy volunteers but it isn't really too difficult to send forms in on time.

I will have met some of you at the incoming club officers information days. I hope that each and everyone went away with new ideas, new enthusiasm and new friends. Fellowship at these days is always good.

District Governor Ken has finished his visitation to Clubs but still has a lot of administration duties to carry out before his term finishes.

District Governor Ken; and the members of District 201V3 welcome the following members, we hope that you will remember the day you were inducted and really enjoy your membership with your Club and Lions Clubs International.

SAY THANK YOU

The first reason you need to say thank you to your volunteers, fellow Lions and your sponsors is obvious - it's simply the right thing to do. No-one, no matter how dedicated they are to a cause or issue, wants to feel that they are unimportant or that their hard work does not matter. Everyone needs to be appreciated and it gives satisfaction to be told how important they are to whatever issue they are dedicating themselves to.

The second reason is perhaps little more cagey. That is when you go out of your way to find the right words to thank volunteers and sponsors so that they will keep volunteering or sponsoring a particular project.

It's extremely easy to find any number of reasons to avoid volunteering or sponsoring. Your job is to show your volunteers and sponsors how appreciated they are, and what a good job they're doing, so they'll want to keep coming back.

A "thank you" costs you nothing but can give you and the volunteer so much.

Like with most things, put yourself in their place. How would you like to be thanked? Would a one time word of appreciation do it for you? Or - should your good works to be noticed more regularly? Of course it helps if the words are natural. No volunteer wants to think that the pat on the back is something someone had to work on doing. If it does not come naturally, and the words don't express gratitude in a normal human fashion, your volunteers will probably pick up on it. That kind of phoniness does no- one any favours.

Spoken or written

That's up to you but there is no reason why you cannot do both. A regular word of kindness to volunteers for the job they do always is noticed and appreciated, especially when you say it right after they have done something wonderful.

When someone goes out of their way, you should do the same to let them know how valued they are for what they do.

On a birthday or the anniversary of the volunteer joining our association it would be a good thing to write that person a note. You can use a nice note paper or buy a card that expresses your sentiments.

How should you put it

Something along the lines of "Thank you for all the good you do We couldn't get along without you" is a pleasant example.

Not everyone that volunteers is wealthy. In fact some volunteers could probably use someone to help them. The idea of providing a tangible memento of thanks for a selfless job well done is a kind and decent thing to do. It does not need to be a huge amount of money. A $10 gift card to a book store may be exactly the kind of treat your volunteer wouldn't spend on themselves, but might be the thing that would delight them nonetheless. And let them know their efforts were truly and warmly appreciated.

The presentation to a Lion of an Australian Lions Foundation award (William R Tresise Fellowship - Ian M Stockdale Humanitarian Award - James D Richardson Award) or a Lions Club International Foundation Melvin Jones Fellowship should not be forgotten. This is a method of showing great appreciation and supporting Lions Projects at the same time.

Never pass up the chance to find the words to thank Lions, volunteers and sponsors. Being kind always brings a ton of rewards to the giver and recipient alike.

37 HOSTINGS AND COUNTING

We enjoy Lions Youth Exchange hosting because we get so much out of it personally – especially the exchange of cultures and international extension of our family. We trust the tips listed on this flyer will encourage all clubs and families to become involved with the Youth Exchange Program.

Lion Bob Hoare, Melvin Jones Fellow
& Lioness Dorothy Hoare OAM
Lions Club of Trafalgar, District 201V3

Hi, we are Bob and Dorothy. Over the last 18 years we have hosted 37 youth from Japan, USA, Canada, Indonesia, Tahiti, Germany, Finland and Norway. All the youth we have hosted have been very good, some excellent, and all well-mannered. On one occasion a Japanese girl arrived at our home already homesick. We suggested, as we do with all of the youth, that she phones home. She burst into tears. The next morning, after a good night's sleep, she explained that we had asked her to ring home but how could she? She had been told not to speak Japanese. If she had rung she would have had to speak Japanese as her parents only speak Japanese and that would be impolite.

It was satisfying to witness a reclusive youth exchangee spend time in Australia, return home, commence university and choose to return to Australia to study at Monash University for 12 months. She visited Australia again in 2011 with her god-daughter. A Japanese girl, Mie, has visited from Japan many times and in 2011 she brought her 3-year old son Toshiya to experience an Australian Christmas. In 2010, exchangee Catharine from Indonesia visited with her husband and children.

OUR YOUTH EXCHANGE TIPS: THIS IS WHAT WE DO – IT WORKS FOR US!

- Remind club members that youth exchange is a CLUB PROJECT not a host family's project. Establish an itinerary weeks before the youth arrive to give members a chance to plan outings and family get-togethers with the visitors.
- Language is not an issue. There are dictionaries, charades, sign language, notepads, and if all else fails, a picture can be used. Most international exchangees speak English and they want to practise their English-speaking skills. The youth appreciate our patience and willingness to repeat phrases if they don't get it first time. If they make a mistake, laugh with them and the mistake is quickly forgotten. Always remember they have learnt

English, NOT Australian. Don't use slang; they do not understand it.

- Gender, nationality, age of exchangees. Consider carefully whether you will host young men or women. If you have children and teenagers at home, that is often the deciding factor. Asian girls usually thrive where there are young children in the host family. Choose an age group with whom you are comfortable.
- We always host two youth from different countries at the same time to minimize homesickness. The youth are good company for each other and delight in exploring each other's native languages and taste in music and sport. We learnt very quickly not to host two from the same country together as they tend to only speak their own language, and do not have the same need to speak English. The one with the better English does all the talking, the other one misses out.
 - Paying for expenses – hosting comes at considerable personal financial cost to a host family. The host club is required by Lions International guidelines to cover the cost of excursions, entry to sightseeing venues, movies, sporting events, etc. The budget should be established well before the youth arrive. If the exchangees offer to pay, let them. Often we say "You pay next time" and when that time arrives, we say "Your turn to pay".

BEFORE YOUTH ARRIVE

- When we have confirmation of the youths we will host each year, we make contact as soon as possible.
- We send an email to introduce ourselves, including our own ages, names and ages of family members; introduce our pets and explain if they are inside or outside animals; give a brief history of our Lions Club, number of members, special activities, etc; summarise briefly our area's geography, population of town, distance from nearest capital city and industries; stress that they will be arriving in Australia in mid-winter (July visit) or hot/warm (December visit) and bring suitable clothes and inform the exchangees that we have hosted before and they will be, for example, number 37.
- We follow up with a very short telephone call to each exchangee.
- Contact is made several times before the youth arrive to ask if there is something special they might like to do or see while they are in Australia (we explain that we MAY be able to fulfill their dreams, no promises). Then we send a letter to the youths' parents – their mothers are especially anxious about them leaving home. If there are problems with their flight bookings, we can resolve them before the youths depart their home countries.

WHEN YOUTH ARRIVE

- We greet them at the airport as a family member, not a guest or stranger, and take them for something to eat and drink. They are usually very tired. Many from Europe and America have not slept for up to 48 hours.

- On arriving home, we show them their room, bathroom and toilet. Explain that this is their home and they can help themselves to a selection of snacks (fruit, bread, drinks, biscuits, etc) if hungry.
- Encourage the youth to telephone their families to let them know they have arrived safely. We pay for the calls.
- Allow youth to sleep until midday to catch up on sleep and recover from jetlag.
- We invite them to choose what they will call us – Mum and Dad or Bob and Dorothy. We speak to them as a youth exchangee son or daughter, not as a child.
- From day one, set rules for use of telephone and computers and monitor carefully. Set rules about showering duration. Explain water restrictions. Thirty minute showers twice a day are not possible in our home.
- Encourage exchangees to write postcards, diaries, prepare their talk to the Lions Club in the family dining room rather than in their bedrooms. Offer to help with preparation of their speech to the club members.
- Be aware of any exchangees who want to spend most of their time in their bedroom. They should be meeting people and experiencing our lifestyle. If problems develop, contact District or MD Youth Exchange for advice.
- NEVER LEAVE THEM HOME ALONE. Involve the youth in all family activities.
- We encourage club members to meet the visitors in our home prior to an excursion. ALWAYS ensure there is a club person of the same gender participating in an outing, particularly with young female. Youth enjoy outings with club members but they prefer to return home to sleep at the end of the day.
- Sightseeing musts – a day spent at our local high school, a visit to our Lions Club meeting, local supermarkets, souvenir-shopping and tourist attractions in the local area.
- We have rest, clothes-washing and house-cleaning days. The youth are expected to help. They are family members not five-star guests. Youth clean their rooms and change bed linen when required. Japanese youth will most likely need an explanation how to use our beds. Their bedding is quite different in Japan.
- Usually we cook meals and the youth wash up, or vice versa. We don't cook special meals for them. They are on a cultural exchange which includes learning about our food. Encourage them to try every new food once. Serving food in a buffet style in the centre of the dining table reduces the anxiety of having to eat a whole plate of strange, served food. Where possible we try to eat at food courts on excursions. We select a table and send the youth to purchase their own meal then we buy ours when they return to the table. If we all purchase our meals together, it could be assumed that we will pay for everyone.

□ Always speak slowly and clearly to the young visitors. Our Australian accents can complicate their ability to translate. Be aware that many non-English speaking youth say "No" when they mean "Yes" and vice-versa. This is to do with the way Australians ask questions.

□ At Club meetings, introduce the youth to members who may be nervous about meeting youth from overseas.

All in all hosting is a wonderfully rewarding experience. If you have a spare room or two give it a go. You will be glad that you did. Remember, not all students remain in contact, but those that do, you have for life. We now have several "married daughters and nine grandchildren" around the world.

Inverloch Lions Jazz Festival Catering 2012 - Report.

What a huge success, due mainly to the input from all who worked over the weekend of 9th to 12th March. Who would have imagined the crowd being so big, especially on the Saturday, with a continual que of people at the BBQ.

Some of the statistics to come out of the weekend are,
90 kgs of sausages cooked.
30 kgs of onions peeled and cooked
60 kgs of pumpkins used for those delicious cups of pumpkin soup.
700 cups of coffee and tea served
100 loaves of bread used plus numerous servings of curried sausages, quiche and sandwiches.
not to mention the delicious sponges, pavlovas and apple slices.

Special thanks to all those who cooked the pumpkin soup, curried sausages, quiches and sponges.

The effort put in by members was nothing but outstanding resulting in gross takings of $10,000 for the weekend.

And how about our neighbouring Lions,
4 from Leongatha (including champion onion peeler Fred Morrison)
3 from Wonthaggi
5 from San Remo
and Zone 7 Chairman Rod Jackson from Mirboo North Without their magnificent contribution our workload would have been extended considerably.

And how well everyone worked together, there was not a word of complaint all weekend and some of the reports I am getting back from visitors and locals were all positive in relation to our menu and the way we presented the food..

.A hearty Inverloch Lions thankyou to all concerned
In the meantime we can sit back and take a sigh of relief until our next big project, parking cars on Phillip island for the V8 Supercars in May.

Inverloch Lions Butterfly Ball.

Only a week after the Inverloch Jazz Festival music once again was to the forefront in the Inverloch Community Hub where the Lions Club staged their annual Butterfly Ball last Saturday evening.

This time the music was provided by well known Gippsland band, the "Silhouettes", who are popular with old time dance enthusiasts and played continuously from 8pm until well after midnight. The hall was decorated with butterflies and balloons providing a pleasant surround for the many dancers in attendance from places as far away as suburban Melbourne and East Gippsland.

In line with the tradition of an old time ball judging took place during the evening to decide the "belle and beau" of the ball. Judged on dancing skills and presentation the winners for 2012 were Jan Nugent of Korumburra (belle of the ball) and partner for the evening, Peter Murray (Beau of the ball).

Judge for the evening was Hannah Stallard, a sales consultant employed by Nagels Amcal Pharmacy at Leongatha was presented with a hard task in deciding the winners with all of the dancers presenting extremely well whilst dancing the "Lucille" for the judging.

M.C for the evening was Lion Neil Everitt who kept things moving so the dancers could enjoy the extensive programme with dances such as the Emmadale, Maxina, Charmaine Waltz, Fox Trot, Barn Dance, Festival Glide and many others over a period of 4 ½ hours, interrupted only for a supper break and drawing of the raffle by the Lions Club.

The Lions Club wish to thank those who attended to make it a successful night both financially and socially and especially wish to thank Wattle Bank residents Peter and Lorna Dawson who brought along forty people to the ball.

On Good Friday and Easter Saturday the Lions Club of Inverloch & District assisted with the running of "Inverloch on the Flip" a water ski spectacular which was held in Anderson Inlet adjacent to the Inverloch foreshore.

The "Stars Down Under" ski show was held between 3pm and 4pm and attracted hundreds of holiday makers and locals to watch the event.

During the afternoon the Inverloch Surf Lifesaving club collected a gold coin donation to assist them with their lifesaving duties at the surf beach in Inverloch.

The Inverloch lions acted as safety personell by keeping swimmers and spectators out of the water during the display. Lions donated their time towards the community run event which included some of Victoria's best water ski teams.

Youth of the Year

DISTRICT WINNER & STATE PUBLIC SPEAKING WINNER

Janel Gibson (pictured above) of Mornington Secondary College, representing the Lions Club of Mt Martha was the winner of the District Youth of the Year Final held at Trafalgar on Sunday 18th March. Janel subsequently represented the District at the State Youth of the Year Final in April where she won the State Public Speaking title. CONGRATULATIONS AND WELL DONE JANEL!
